KNOCK PROHIBITION INTO A COCKED HAT.

There was once a time when the law was a cocked hat, but the law has now been knocked into a cocked hat. The law is now a cocked hat, and the law is now a cocked hat.

The law is now a cocked hat, and the law is now a cocked hat. The law is now a cocked hat, and the law is now a cocked hat. The law is now a cocked hat, and the law is now a cocked hat.

The law is now a cocked hat, and the law is now a cocked hat. The law is now a cocked hat, and the law is now a cocked hat. The law is now a cocked hat, and the law is now a cocked hat.

STATE BANK &amp; TRUST CASE HAS OBNOXIOUS ODOR.

The winding up of the affairs of the State Bank & Trust company is developing into a burlesque of even a more pronounced type than at any other period during the past proceedings. Judge Langan is evidently intent on permitting Receiver Frank L. Wildes to prolong the agony, despite the fact that he came very close to losing his judicial crown at the last session of the legislature. The fact that but three more votes in the senate would have been necessary to deprive him of his office and disgrace him forever in the eyes of all law-abiding people should, we believe, have proven an object lesson to his honor, but such seems not to have been the case.

The people are sick and disgusted with the movement of the machinery of the law in the adjudication of the State Bank & Trust company proceedings. The hearing on the last two reports filed by Receiver Wildes came up at Carson City last Friday, but instead of closing up the matter with no further delay, Judge Langan suggested that the attorneys interested get together and decide upon the procedure to be followed, and determine whether the property could be best disposed of through public or private sale. This we are again witnessing the spectacle of more daily dealings in the case. While it was stipulated in court that Receiver Wildes should not receive any more salary, a provision was inserted that two more compensations or salary should be allowed without an order from the judge. The judge is contained in law that many words, and the good Lord only knows how often the judge may issue an order, or how long he may prolong the time for final settlement.

The principal assets of the State Bank & Trust company consists of the State Bank building in Tonopah, and the revenue realized is just about sufficient to pay compensation for the receiver. But Wildes must have a job of some sort, it is quite evident, and he dislikes very much to relinquish his duties, and in some manner has succeeded in hypnotizing Judge Langan, making the latter see the light as he does. The property of the State Bank & Trust company should be disposed of and the money distributed among those to whom it rightfully belongs, and this most nauseating receiver, who brought to an end, in order that the depositors who suffered loss may get the fruits of the receivership proceedings out of their pockets. For God's sake let us hope that these proceedings may end once and for all time.

TRAFFIC LAWS SHOULD BE ENFORCED.

The accident that occurred Sunday night on the highway leading from Tonopah to Goldfield could have been avoided had the parties in charge of moving the house which blocked the roadway, carried the proper lights. While the wreck is a tragedy, and the injury to the driver of the touring car is regretted, this should serve as an object lesson to all people who adhere strictly to the traffic laws, both state and county, in the future.

It would seem that movers of buildings, would refrain from moving great and bulky loads in the darkness, but that, on the other hand, they would endeavor to find some convenient place where they might withdraw from the main thoroughfare when darkness is falling. Wonder it is that the driver of the touring car was not killed outright, and that such a thing happened, then those in charge of the house moving would have been called upon to answer a manslaughter charge.

In these days of great activity in the business affairs of this busy world we should ever be watchful of the interests of others, as well as our own. No one person has a monopoly on the roads, and the greatest of care should at all times be exercised that no one, not even ourselves, should be inconvenienced to any greater extent than possible. There is a county ordinance covering traffic and it should be strictly enforced, both as it applies to outside districts, as well as in the town proper, and the Bonanza trusts that the officials will do their full duty in the premises in the future.

M'NAMARA MILL MAKING HEAVY NET EARNINGS

The McNamara mill, with a capacity of 50 tons daily, is operating full blast, and the bins, as a rule, are taxed by heavy tonnage extracted from the mine workings through the tribute system, and with shipments that are being received from outside properties. During the month of September, four consignments of bullion were sent out, which had a total value of $31,107.96. Values cannot be relied upon steadily owing to consignments of ore from various outside properties, with the possible exception of the Divide Extension, which has been sending forth a high-grade product for the last several weeks.

In the mine workings there are several sets of leasers at work, and a nearly every insurance shipments are in order. The ore is coming largely from the 300 and 375 levels, but one leaser is doing very well on the 200 level.

A shipment of the toll is now in order covering the first half of October, and it is probable a shipment will go out early in the coming week.
